Dupont Contracting is a third generation family run business that was established in 1980 by Gino Savoia's father-in-law John Sicilia and John's nephew, Marcello Intraligi. Gino became a partner of the company in 1993. Last year Gino acquired Dupont Contracting, and now owns and operates the company alongside his son Alex Savoia, and son in-law Pietro Palleschi.

Dupont Contracting is a petroleum contractor that builds and services gas stations across Canada. They have managed to create quite a stellar reputation for themselves as the volume and size of their projects grow exponentially with each passing year. Becoming such a highly referred company, this year they found themselves in need of some more equipment.

When Gino was asked why he chose Bobcat machines, he stated “they are the right size for us, very versatile and they work very well for what we do. I have had other bigger machines, but they just sit in our yard because they are not being used. If we really need a big machine I will rent one, otherwise we will be strictly using our Bobcat machines.”

Gino has older Bobcat machines from years ago that are still working strong. He recently purchased a Bobcat E45 compact excavator and a Bobcat S590 compact skid steer from Joe Palfy, sales specialist for Bobcat of Toronto. “Joe has been great, fair and reasonable to work with. For many years before Joe, I worked with Bob Bell from Bobcat of Toronto but unfortunately he passed away a couple years ago. It has been a pleasure to work with Bobcat of Toronto over the years and I would recommend them and Joe Palfy, to purchase your Bobcat machines.

Thank you Gino.
