Growing Strong with Bobcat®

For this Ontario-based contractor, Fabio Bucci, building a business has been a steady climb rooted in hard work, persistence and the right equipment.

Specializing in land clearing, excavation, demolition and grading, Bucci Demolition & Excavation has been operating for five years, with significant growth over the past two.

"I started part-time while working elsewhere, but after getting laid off, I focused on this full-time," Bucci says. "It really started to take off around that third year."

Today, the company handles a range of projects, from residential land clearing and grading to house demolition and interior strip-outs, supported by a flexible crew that scales depending on the job.

Why Bobcat?

Choosing Bobcat Company was a natural fit.

"It's what I've always been comfortable with," he says. "We've run other brands too, but there's no comparison."

The purchase of a new Bobcat T86 compact track loader has further strengthened operations.

Versatility on the Job

From forestry applications to demolition support, the machine plays a key role across multiple job types.

"We use it for grading, land clearing with mulchers, and demolition work," he explains. "With a grapple, we're loading bins and moving material efficiently. It's a very versatile machine."

He also highlights the performance behind the controls.

"They're really responsive. They definitely live up to the name."

Dealer Support That Delivers

Strong dealer relationships have also been part of the experience, particularly working with sales specialist Joe Palfy.

"He's been great, really helpful in any way he can," he says. "And the rest of the team at Bobcat of Toronto/Oaken Equipment has been amazing too. No complaints."

Building for the Future

Like many small contractors, growth hasn't come without challenges. Balancing workload, managing crews and navigating economic uncertainty all come with the territory.

"It's nice to have the freedom of working for yourself, but there's a lot of pressure too," he says. "You've got to keep work coming in and keep your guys busy."

Still, the outlook remains optimistic.

"We've got a great crew and are focused on steady growth, one step at a time, backed by Joe Palfy and the great support of Bobcat of Toronto/Oaken Equipment."
